Welcome to Newark

As New Jersey's largest city, Newark is home to generations of Americans drawn by economic opportunity, cultural offerings, quality of life and superior location. Much of Newark's charm lies in its wealth of recreational and cultural attractions. Our city abounds with music, history, fine dining and entertainment. There is a treasure trove of art and artifacts at galleries and museums, exciting professional sports, world-class performances and family fun offered by minor league baseball, festivals and fairs. All of these wonderful attributes reinforce our efforts in building a stronger, safer, prouder city. I invite you to discover what we have known for years—that Newark is an authentic, diverse and dynamic destination for our residents and visitors alike. I welcome you and encourage you to explore and experience our great city for yourself.

*Sincerely,
Cory A. Booker, Mayor*

Both stylish restaurant and hot dance club, Adegagrill is one of the Ironbound's prime after-work and weekend destinations. The menu features shrimp sautéed in garlic; chorizo sausage flambéed tableside; seafood paella and other Spanish and Portuguese favorites. At night, things really heat up, especially on the flashing-light-radiating dance floor, especially the "dressed-to-kill" clientele and "scantly-clad shooters girls."

Probably Newark's best Italian restaurant, this casual, green-awned restaurant serves up good, hearty pasta and seafood in non-fussy surroundings. Save room for dessert, especially the cannoli and cheesecake. Assagini Di Roma (A Little Taste of Rome) is a bit off the beaten track — it's closer to Newark Liberty International Airport than to Newark Penn Station — but it's well worth the visit.

At Catas, Old World Spain meets New York City as this hidden gem offers a Spanish/Portuguese cuisine, but with a twist. Their signature dish is paella, but it is made with traditional calasparra rice, which creates a crunchiness not typically experienced in Newark. Sampling is the norm here as they offer nearly 30 tapas as well as appetizers and entrees.

Hell's Kitchen Lounge

150 Lafayette Street
973-465-4422
www.hellskitchenlounge.com
 12:00pm-10:00pm

This spot offers a restaurant amidst that devilish kitsch. The food is "upscale pub" fare, with American, Continental, Middle Eastern (Moroccan-style mussels are a local favorite) and Asian influences. For drinks or dinner, Hell's Kitchen Lounge makes for a fun night out. Pajamas, knife swallows and karaoke? You're on your own.

 Mon-Fri: 7:30am-4:30pm
 Sat: 11:00am-3:00pm, Sun: Closed
 Open until Devils/Nets game time

No discussion of the downtown food scene is complete without a nod to this longtime Jewish deli/luncheonette. There never was anyone named Hobby, although there was an owner named Hockhauser, who renamed it Hocky's in the 1930s. Subsequent owners removed the "c" and "k," substituted "bb," and Hobby's was born. Enjoy super-sized sandwiches, and all your usual Jewish deli favorites.

973-481-9696
www.netwaiter.com/luigisitalianrestaurant
Mon-Fri: 11am-3pm, lunch
Mon-Sun: 3pm-10pm, dinner

Brick walls, trellises, baskets of warm crunchy bread and a small, cozy dining room. Luigi's is a family-owned, mom-and-pop operation. A great way to begin a meal is with their signature rice balls and spiedini, followed by any of their supersized entrees. The "fluffy" canolis are a great closer.

Great little place for a beer and a bite before venturing to the Rock. They have an extensive beer selection, so take your time looking. The variety of bottles behind the bar is amazing...over 100 different bottles in stock, from Coors Light all the way up to Kwak Abbey Ale in the big bottle. The food is great too.

One of the newer additions to the city's restaurant scene, this tapas/wine bar/lounge on the Ironbound's main drag is a casual, hip alternative to the city's more formal dining rooms. The brick-walled restaurant, named for Catalan composer Federico Mompou, features tapas, sandwiches, soups, salads, pastas and other items. Its distinctive atmosphere and great Spanish cuisine make the storefront a standout.

There was a Tony but never a Caneca at this landmark Ironbound restaurant. Brothers Tony and Artur Almeida were the original owners; "caneca" is Portuguese for the clay jars wine was often kept in. A number of appetizers received high marks, including the shrimp in garlic sauce, and chorizo, set on fire at your table. Good red and white sangria, fresh and fruity. The formidable grilled prawns, served sizzling on a stone, were crisp and meaty. Lots of great choices.
